Terrace Hill is a beautiful Victorian mansion. It was built in 1869 by an early Des Moines settler, Benjamin Allen. He sold it to Frederick Hubbell in 1884. It is now the home of Iowa’s governor. The first and second floors are open to the public. The governor and his family live on the third floor.
Terrace Hill Stained Glass Window