Goldie at Home Activity: Snapshots of Montauk

Activity Overview: You can read a book, but did you know you can read a photo as well? Photographs are a great way to see a snapshot of the past. This Goldie at Home activity addresses how to look beyond the surface of an image and become detectives searching for clues to better understand a historic photo. The State Historical Society of Iowa not only cares for thousands of historic objects, but also is home to many photographs from Iowa’s past.

Connection to Iowa History
The photos used for this activity come from the Larrabee family of Clermont, Iowa. The State Historical Society of Iowa has over a 1,000 photographs of the Larrabee family and their life at Montauk. The family was considered one of the most powerful and wealthiest families in Iowa during the late 1800s and early 1900s. Their former home, Montauk, is now a state historic site open to the public for tours from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

How to Understand Historic Photography (Visual Literacy)
Photographs only capture a moment in time. Viewers of historical photos don’t know what happened before or after a photo was taken, and it is important to recognize that viewers only see a segment of time. To more fully understand a historic time period portrayed in photos, look at newspapers or other research materials and compare historic photos from different sources for the same time period.

Instructions
1. Begin this activity by showing “Montauk Photograph #1” without context to your young historian.

2. Quickly and quietly look the image over, and then use the worksheet to record first impressions in the “First Look” section for this image.

3. Next, take a few minutes to more closely examine the image. Continue to answer the questions while looking at the image in the “Looking Closer for Clues” section. It is helpful to have the image available while looking for clues.

4. In the “Final Thoughts” section of the worksheet, write what you think the image depicts. Also, list what else you would like to know about the image.

5. Repeat the same steps, 1-4, for “Montauk Photograph #2.”

8 More Background Information about the Montauk Photographs
Disclaimer: Use this information for reflection after completing the analysis worksheet.
   • Photograph #2: This photograph was taken of Frederic Larrabee and three friends while they sang in his family's music room located at Montauk. Although an exact date is not provided, through documentation, it was prior to 1916. In 1916, one of the two upright pianos in the background of the photograph was moved to a different room within the house. Frederic attended Columbia Law school and graduated from Iowa State College in 1898. He practiced law and served in the Iowa Senate from 1909-1997. He also was well traveled, and visited Europe and the Middle East in 1900. He also embarked on a world tour in 1914. He died in 1957.
